SEPTEMBER HAS THE WORST SKY PATTERNS!

September 4, 2012 Vol. 12/09

The second of seven Uranus/Pluto square aspects comes in on September 18-19 [late night or early morning] depending on which coast you're on. The importance of this one rests with the fact that the Pluto is making its Direct Station less than 25 hours prior to the square! In addition, Mercury opposes Uranus and squares Pluto just after market close on the 20th.

On September 25-26 Mars and Venus attack the standing square. The Full Moon of Saturday, September 29 activates the full force and power of this very difficult alignment, igniting Revolutionary Actions around the entire globe. At least as unsettling as the "Arab Spring" and far more concentrated in time. How much will cause Geopolitical realignments and how much will be Natural Disaster related, we cannot guess at this time. We urge you to complete "Hurricane-like" preparations, even in usually "stable" locations.

September is historically the worst market month, with October a close second. We will soon see if Wall Street in conjunction with the "Working Group on Markets" or more casually known as the "Plunge Protection Team" will be able to hold this market up during the most negative astro-period right up into the end of the U.S. Fiscal Year!

It will be interesting to see what unsuspected issues will rise at that critical moment? October is a mystery of mixed signals. The November eclipses may account for the next major challenges (13th & 28th), and then the Mayan Calendar date (December 21) and the January 1 "Fiscal Cliff." All these take place with a declining Bradley Model and within the current Mars-Uranus Crash Cycle.

Our markets are continuing to produce more down days than up, even against a rising trend. That means that someone is attempting to hold these markets up in the face of declining natural cycles. It can be accomplished for a time, but the natural forces will have their way eventually. The Dow Jones Industrial Average did not break the low of any previous year for an incredible 18 years, a historic anomaly, into the year 2000. After that though, it has suffered two powerful crash periods and has made NO Net Gains, overall!

With seven of the last ten days closing on the downside, we are likely to have an oversold bounce for a few days, perhaps into mid-month when things begin to get a great deal more testy. The technical market indicators have continued to erode near to historic change points, but are doing so very gradually, and have not yet precipitated the necessary countertrend corrective movements.

However, they ARE on the horizon, and that horizon is rushing towards us like a freight train! There is no more time to make preparations. The event horizon will meet equivalence in a matter of days! The contents of Pandora's Box is about to be unleashed on an unsuspecting world. Well, not exactly unsuspecting. If one has been reading the Headlines, that one is not unfamiliar with some of the possibilities. The auguries for this time frame are such that many of the worst possibilities will occur & At the Same Time!

The chart (above) this page shows the XOI Oil Stock Index. It has traced out a large Triangle pattern. The technical interpretation would be a large move in the direction of a breakout either above 1320 or below 1060, which would define the direction of a much larger continuation. Since the current Administration in DC has been inimical to Oil interests generally, a renewal of their White House contract could mean this particular industry might suffer.

Incidentally, did you see the headlines that CO2 emissions in the U.S. are at 20 year lows, due largely to greater use of natural gas? Unfortunately, that makes it harder for 'renewable' sources to compete in the marketplace. Environmentalists wanted CO2 levels to drop down – they've dropped down. Isn't that a Win-Win? If so, why are they still unhappy? It's sort of like if we cured cancer, how many people would be out of work? Don't worry environmentalists, the coming Depression will cure ALL those problems!

ANOTHER MACD SELL SIGNAL ON ALL MAJOR INDICES – MOMENTUM LOSS!

But this may or may not be the end of the upside yet as holidays and new month beginnings have a positive bias. We believe that if we do get one more rally, it will be the last one before significant damage ensues. The Full Moon at 10 AM Friday may have put the nail in the coffin, and it could override some very minor oversold readings. The MACD momentum measures at index chart bottoms have already given Sell Signals, but they can have several false or early signals in an extended move such as this one. Indeed, this one is already the third of a current series, and could be final. It would not surprise us [what would after now?] if there were another “spike” into higher territory as the final bait!

By the time our BRADLEY Model turns more negative after the second week of September, and time runs out for some of the more damaging sky patterns in decades, if not millennia, we will increase our downside investments of a personal nature, as this newsletter has already recommended a maximum position when the Mars-Uranus Crash Cycle became active on July 16. The VIX has made a new low under 13.50 and the Rydex Cash (see charts last 2 CP issues) has made a further new low for all but two occasions. Now the VIX has risen above the upper limits of a Declining Wedge pattern (not shown) indicating the possibility of ‘more to come.’ But we must SEE those higher levels to prove the negative market case, above 19, then 21.

We did a study some years ago, taking the largest down percentage days in the S&P500 Index from 1928, and distributing them around the year’s calendar dates. The amazing results showed that two thirds of the greater down days occurred within one third of the calendar year, centered on the Fall Equinox! Since most major world markets are in the Northern Hemisphere, the Fall Equinox represents the time of greatest negative changes from Light to Dark and from Hot to Cold. We think that may be grounds for further studies relating to natural weather changes on various markets. It makes perfect practical sense. September has the worst record for stock market gains and October has the second worst. The market seasonality is very well researched and very profitable over any but the shortest of time periods. By the way, the Fall Equinox in the current Era lands on September 21 or 22, depending on Leap Year adjustments.

The 10-Year Bond chart which had finally begun to lose momentum and roll over has now popped back up near its highs. There is some considerable sense of desperation in the massive efforts to hold things together (worldwide) which are about to fly off the handle. What day exactly is THAT going to happen? We dare to predict that Financial Doomsday will appear at the end of this quarter, which is also the end of the United States Fiscal Year! Someone is going to have to PAY with something REAL, and we will see, publicly, whether they can or they can’t.

“There are times when the market gives the impression it is fading into nothingness. Volume becomes very low, trading ranges become very small, volatility becomes very low. Also, there is very little change in market levels, and day-to-day fluctuations are minimal. Looking back at history, when that happens, it is almost always a sign of a market high point.” -- Dick Arms

INTEREST RATE ON 30-YEAR BONDS TRAPPED BETWEEN 2 MOVING AVERAGES!

To the left of the chart (above) you can see that the low for rates previously (2.5%) was in the midst of the 2008 economic dislocation around the middle of December. Although the highs took place around 4.8% in each of the next three years, the yearly lows formed a steep declining trend. Very easy money has been the policy of the Federal Reserve, and especially so from the Fall of 2011 when it broke the 3% support barrier. The 30-Year rate oscillated around the 3% level for about six months and then rose to a high near 3.5% in mid-March of 2012.

From there the rate dropped precipitously registering an important low exactly on the Lunar Eclipse of June 4! That day also held the Retrograde Station of Neptune (said to rule inflationary pressures) as well as an extremely rare passage of Venus across the face of the Sun. After a bounce, rates drifted into a slightly lower low (a bit less than 2.5%) on July 25 where there was a Mercury trine Uranus and a Sun contra-parallel to Pluto (said to govern interest rates). The 2.5% level did hold there and it rallied to the 3.0% level where further resistance was met at the 200-Day MA (heavy declining blue line) and oddly, another Mercury trine to Uranus, another aspect to Pluto and a New Moon on 17-18 August high mark.

Now rates have drifted back down about 50% of the recent rally from the lows, and is also encountering support from the 50-Day MA (heavy red line just beginning to turn up). A plethora of mixed planetary aspects this long weekend plus the 50-Day MA could turn the rate structure back up from here temporarily but it must break above 3% or below 2.63% to signal anything more significant. We anxiously await developments near term, including any further QE's or FED easing, and expect rates to break further upside over the next month or two.

This pulls together all the pieces into a coherent whole. And has links to all the references.

WHILE YOU WERE ASLEEP. The Story of the 2012 Revolution By HopeGirl

Now Banks Can Legally Steal Retirement Accounts

<http://soundofheart.org/galacticfreepress/content/now-banks-can-legally-steal-retirement-accounts>

For metals we have purchased from Pat & Linda Gorman at Resource Consultants in Tempe, AZ (1-800-494-4149) and www.buysilvernow.com I have been a speaker at their Tempe conferences for over 10 years.

For long-lasting FOOD items I bought from Virgil Jackson and Celeste Chiappetta at Living Valley, LLC in Bigfork, MT (406-837-1350). They are very knowledgeable Preparedness Consultants, specializing in long term food storage. I bought food from them in March 2010, since doubled in price. livingvalleyfoods@gmail.com

Both these couples are deeply spiritual, long-time friends. We are not remunerated for this recommendation.

The CRB Index continued its rise to 309.64! The pattern we mentioned last month about multiple commodities having a strange rally nearly every Friday, has continued more or less and is very suspicious for its unusualness! "I get a distinct impression that money is coming out of weak countries banks FOR THE WEEKEND." Could it be true that things are so bad that extraordinary safety measures are being implemented on a regular basis?

OIL on its weekly chart (not shown) has risen back up to its 50-week MA resistance, while the daily chart shows the price out in the end of a triangle pattern and also at or near its 200-Day MA. It must soon decide which way to jump. The daily would look better above 100 but the weekly shows heavier limitations in the 104-105 area.

GOLD (at right) has been flat and quiet for awhile, but has now broken out upside above its 200-Day MA and a downtrend line from the September and February highs. Altogether it looks quite a bit more dynamic, and entering a favorable seasonality, as well. Minor resistance resides at the 1700 level and greater limitation at the 1800 level. If "Uncle Ben" throws more money, it could pass through those quickly. We think the world printing presses make the intermediate and longer term outlooks extremely favorable.

Our multi-year recommendation to Buy original Deutschmark-denominated Bonds in this space has really paid off! Our decade+ Gold positions have done even better! We think the strong commodity producing countries currencies and bonds retain a longer term advantage. Currencies and Bonds of Australia, New Zealand and Canada remain prime on safety lists with greater geopolitical risk in those of Russia, Nigeria, Brazil, S. Africa & Iraq.

Because sanctions against Iran Oil have cut production, Iraq has now passed Iran in Oil output, favoring the Dinar!
